what he thought of the conduct of Russell yet what he thought of the conduct of Russell in funching with Anhut after the latter had sought to bribe him. Asked why he had not reported the case to the Governor, Colonel Scott said:

"The lawyer," declared Clark, "through people connected with him financially, handed the agent of Dr. Russell $25,000. Dr. Russell was to release Thaw the latter part of December, but getting the $25,000 seemed to be so easy they decided they would make another touch. The other amount was not liberated. When Governor Sulzer assumed office these gentlemen became very uneasy, and reported to Thaw that he could not be released for at least six or eight months. They handed back $11,000 of the $25,000 wnich they had originally received.

Questioned by Deputy AttorneyGeneral Norton, counsel for the committee, Clark declined to give the sources of his information. All the essential facts, he insisted, could be verified by calling Thaw to the stand, together with the detective, Hoffman, supposed to he in the employ of the Thaw family and constantly on duty at or near Matteawan.

"There is not ever dealth," declared

"There is not any doubt," declared Clark, "that the money was offered. Dr. Russell admits it. He says he reported the offer to Superintendent Scott. The fact that the money was offered was a felony, the fact that he refused at the time to prosecute the man who made the offer makes him particeps criminis, and that Superintendent Scott knew of it and falled to notify him to have the man indicted, makes him equally guilty, and he should be removed.

Determined to Squeleb It.

"I knew very well what he wanted to see me about," declared Russell, "but I made up my mind I would squelch that thing then and there. I went there, with that purpose and did squelch it. I told him if the Governor wanted this thing done he would have to send me an order to that effect when he was Governor. I told him furthermore I would not do, it, and would not have anything to do with this, makter further. I never heard from him since, and that is the end of the whole proceeding."

It was not until January 22, more than a month after the bribe offer, that Russell made any report on it. On that Tate he spoke to John G. Mc-on the stand, testified that the first he knew of any bribe offer was from Secretary McDowell on January 29. He at once telephoned Dr. Russell to come to Albany, and the doctor did so and made his report as given by him on the stand.

Clark glared at Superintendent Scott, who, with a savage look listened to every word of his attack. Scott turned to a friend and exclaimed:

"That conspiracy story is a lie, Were it true I ought to be removed. Just wait till I get on the stand, I will make short work of such drivel as this?"

Dr. Russell told of his acquaintance with Anhut, who, he said, he met in June during legal proceedings involving Thaw, which were being heard at White Plains. In August he entertained Anhut at the hospital, and on November 22 met him in New York, where the first attempt at bribery, he says, was made.

"Now," said Norton, "tell us just what Anhut said."

Thaw's liberation by June 1.*

"In that condition the affair rested until this story came out at Albany about an effort to bribe the superintent. The first it the daughter of Mrs. Persident of Matteawan to release Thaw, Thaw, thien, for the first time, clearly realized the nature of the game which had been played upon him, and he decided to demand a full-hearing in order that the truth might be made known. "He will go before the committee that the truth might be made known. "He will go before the committee hew fully equilpped to give every detail of the affair." If he is permitted, Thaw will lay before the committee new facts as to his mental condition which was practiced upon him. The haby may make one of the party of Wisson and her daughters. "What did you say to him?"

"I told him I could not do anything of that kind, that I thought too much of my position and my honor to do a thing of that kind."

Dr. Russell then admitted that following the bribe offer he and Anhut went from the Hotel Savoy, where the offer was made, to the Plaza, where they had luncheon at Anhut's oxpense, Later they took a walk in Central Park, After that they took a cab for the horse show in Madson square Garden, where they remained until Russell's train time, Russell and Anhut met again in New York on December 14, according to the latter's testimony.
